

this issue: It's FALL!

Okay, it may not officially be fall yet, but it's definitely in the air. Kids are back in school, and the pool toys are put away. It's a great time to get organized and celebrate the new season. Here are a few simple project ideas...

Clear the closet!

Go through your wardrobe from last fall and winter and sort into "keep" and "donate." Take all your donations to a local charity. Then take inventory and determine what you need. A fresh white shirt? New boots? Or maybe just fun accessories to update for the season.

Wash the windows!

Be ready to enjoy the colors of fall. Grab your squeegee and window cleaner, go outside and work on cleaning a minimum of two windows each day until they're all done.

Start shopping!

Make it your goal this year not to do any holiday shopping in November or December. If you plan to have it completely finished by October, you can enjoy the holiday season with family and friends, and stay away from crowded malls.

Don't forget to decorate!

Fall is the second most decorated season after Christmas (according to dollars spent on decorating items). Here are some easy ways to express your inner decorator:

- Put miniature pumpkins and gourds in a large bowl or vase as a centerpiece or accent.
- Casually scatter (that's decorating jargon for very carefully arrange but don't make it look like you did) small pie pumpkins, miniature pumpkins and gourds, and fall leaves on a mantle or table.
- Use a pumpkin as a vase for a fall flower arrangement of asters, mums or colorful foliage.
